

Good Response to Canvass For Artificial Ice

Following last week's meeting, the committees commenced their canvass of the business area. H. C. McBurney and Mayor Pattinson interviewed the merchants and employees in two blocks west on Main street, and H. T. Halliwell and W. L. Rippon on the two east blocks. As a result, they have approximately $2,000 in sight. The teaching staffs are yet to be interviewed.

Subscriptions range from $100 to $10, payable in ten monthly instalments. A meeting of the committee will be held this week, when the reports of the canvass of the business area will be complete, and further plans made to find the amount of support which can be secured from the mine employees.

With hardly an exception, the people of the business area have promised assistance, and throughout the town there is widespread sentiment in favor of the proposal.

In connection with the raising of funds, it is of interest to note that Blaimore signed up 548 members to contribute monthly towards maintenance and operation of the rink, thus securing $788.80 for the season from this source. Of course, a much larger amount is required here, but it indicates that even with much less work in Blaimore there is sufficient interest to contribute towards winter sports.

A monthly contribution from everyone here who is in business or employed would solve the difficulties of financing the artificial ice plant, and would provide skating free for the children throughout the entire winter. It is a plan well worthy of adoption in Coleman.

Blaimore sports organization not only functions in the winter, but also organizes summer sports, and its next big event is the Dominion Day celebration. W. H. Chappell, who takes a prominent part in all community activities, states: "From all indications and interest around town I expect this celebration will be bigger and better than ever."

ELKS DECORATED BROTHERS' GRAVES SUNDAY

Forty-seven members of Coleman Elks lodge gathered at the cemetery on Sunday morning and decorated the graves of their departed brothers. Beautiful flowers were placed on the graves of Wm. Bell, A. Bowling, R. Eastwood, J. Hopkins, A. Cornett, H. Gate, F. Graham Sr., and J. Lysek.

RENEWALS FROM SUBSCRIBERS

The Journal acknowledges renewal subscriptions this week from Mrs. Carwell, of Lundbreck, who has been on the list for about fifteen years, and Mr. Charles MacKinnon, of Maple Creek, formerly C.P.R. agent at Coleman. Charlie states: "Just returned from holidays; always glad to hear of the old town and its doings, and Mrs. MacKinnon join in regards to yourselves and friends. Hope you make the artificial ice go."

MISS BESSIE DAVIES HONORED

Two showers in honor of Miss Beattie Davies, bride-elect, were held at Coleman and Hillecrest last week. Miss Davies, Hillecrest public school teacher, will be married at Victoria, July 15, to Robert Wilson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Wilson, of Coleman.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Adam Wilson was hostess at a shower in honor of Miss Davies when sixteen friends were present. Four tables of whist were in play, prize winners being Miss Beattie Davies, Mrs. George Derbyshire and Mrs. R. Gillies. Following whist, Miss Davies was presented with a beautiful electric toaster, a gift from those present.

On Thursday evening over a hundred of her friends at Hillecrest spent a social evening at which she was presented with a number of beautiful gifts.

Guides and Scouts Attended Church

On Sunday morning at St. Alban's church the Girl Guides under Miss Winifred Dunlop, the Brownies, and the Cubs, the latter in charge of Mrs. B. Steeves and Mrs. Frank H. Graham, listened to a very practical address by Rev. John R. Hague, rector, who pointed out to them that cleanliness, tidy habits, punctuality, neatness in appearance, were very necessary to develop a sound body and a cultural mind. He cited the rules of St. John College School, Winnipeg, the oldest school in Canada west of Toronto, where the boys have to arise at 6 a.m. and pass inspection for cleanliness before they go to prayers and breakfast.

MINING PROFESSOR MEETS FORMER PUPILS

Dr. Parker, a well known mining professor at Cowdenbush, Fifeshire, Scotland, was an interested visitor at McGillivray triple recently. He is well known to several former Fifers, now residents of Coleman, who attended mining classes taught by him many years ago. Dr. Parker is on his way home to Scotland after a tour of Australia, New Zealand, the States and Canada. Dr. Parker was shown through some of the Pass mines by Mr. Dave Young, superintendent at Mohawk Mines and a former pupil of his.

ELECTION RUMORS

Political dodges in Edmonton have gone on the active list during the past week. Premier Aberhart announced the beginning of his annual summer tour for July 19, then postponed the opening for one week. In Unity circles, following the breakdown of negotiations with the liberal leader, Mr. E. L. Gray, it was decided to leave the door open for further negotiations with a view to a future alliance. Meantime, the Unity Movement entered the lists of political parties proper by drawing up an election platform.

Many favorable comments have been expressed on the improvements at the Palace theatre.

School Concert Proves Enjoyable

Instructor James Cousins is highly commended by Principal for his efforts in training children.

The concert under the direction of Mr. James Cousins in the high school auditorium on Friday evening elicited many favorable comments, and Principal Hoyle towards the close of the program paid a fine tribute to Mr. Cousins and the pupils for their efforts. Mr. Hoyle stated that despite many discouragements, and the fact that boys particularly as a rule do not take kindly to singing lessons and regard them as being somewhat effeminate, splendid results had been obtained, and he was pleased to publicly pay his tribute of commendation to Mr. Cousins.

The program given by the groups of Grades VII to X of the high school was as follows:

1. Chorus by senior choir, The Children's Prayer, and Fairy Belles.
2. Solo, Maiden's Wish, by Margaret McCulloch.
3. By Grade VIII—"God Be With Us" (German) and Golden Slumbers (English).
4. Duet—Peggy McDonald and Irene Devine—Where'er You Walk.
5. Grade VII—Fairy Ring, and The Blackbird (Italian).
6. Solo—Peggy McDonald, Evening Star.

12. High School Chorus—"Come Unto Him."
13. Solo by Alfred Ledieu—"Ringing of the Lark."
14. Quartet—"Oh No, John!" by Nino, Reggie, Jimmie Raymond.

Legion Club Taking Shape

The new club on Main street has been a centre of interest among Canadian Legion members for some time, and approximately $1,000 has been spent on renovating and improving the interior. Additional expenditures will be necessary to meet the requirements of a fully equipped club building, and the executive is considering putting on a membership drive to provide furnishings and fittings.

All ex-service men are urged by President Martland and Secretary Tom Rose to join the organization, and to give it a boost. There is plenty of scope for a club for the Legion's activities, besides which the care of incapacitated soldiers is one of the chief responsibilities of the Legion. Therefore, help in this enterprise.

Last Friday evening there was a general meeting, when ways and means of raising money were discussed. The Legion needs the support of all ex-service men, and there should be at least a hundred members among the ex-service men of this town.

Praise is well deserved by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for its excellent broadcasts of the royal tour across Canada. Particularly appreciated were the re-broadcasts in the evenings, when those who were unable to listen in during the day were enabled to get a sound-picture of the events of each day.

The levelling process on the old football field is steadily proceeding, and with a surfacing of the soil after the filling has been completed, it will make an ideal sports ground.

Miss Nettie Gardner, nurse-in-training at the Holy Cross hospital, Calgary, will leave on Sunday for the city after spending three weeks' vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Wilson.

Remember that your local stores can best serve you with all household requirements and give prompt delivery.

Sudden Death of Mrs. A. A. Pruett Wednesday

Had Only Lived Here Six Months. Coming from Cochrane to Grand Union Hotel.

Funeral Friday at Cochrane at 2 p.m.

Coleman people were shocked on Wednesday morning to hear of the sudden passing of Mrs. A. A. Pruett, wife of Mr. Pruett, manager of the Grand Union hotel here, death taking place at the home of her son in Cochrane, Alberta.

Early last week Mrs. Pruett went to Calgary for medical advice, and after consultation was advised to rest for a week, when it was intended to consider performing an operation for an internal ailment. Her illness developed rapidly, and Mr. Pruett was summoned from Coleman late Monday night. Mrs. Pruett died about 3 a.m. Wednesday, in her 53rd year.

Besides her husband she leaves a married daughter, Mrs. L. Arnold, of Pincher Creek; Miss Nellie Pruett, living at Cochrane with her brother Tom, who manages the hotel at Cochrane.

It was on January 1 this year that Mr. and Mrs. Pruett took over the management of the Grand Union hotel, following the death of the former manager, Mr. William Bell, in October. Very few here knew of her illness, and it came as a great shock to learn of her untimely death.

Prior to 1914 they lived at Hosmer and Michel. Mrs. Pruett was born in Wigan, Lancs., England, where she was married. The Pruett family had been in New Zealand for some time. During the war they lived in England, when Mr. Pruett was serving in the Imperial army in France. They managed a hotel at Nordregg prior to coming to Coleman.

By her genial nature, Mrs. Pruett gained quite a number of friends here, whose heartfelt sympathy is extended to the husband and family in their bereavement.

MADE THE GRAND TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Rosch Cousins returned home on Tuesday evening after a 9,000-mile tour of the United States. First visiting the San Francisco fair, they went on to San Diego, thence to Southern Texas, across to Florida, and up the east coast States to Washington, D.C. They were fortunate, whilst in New York, to see the King and Queen, even if it did entail a four-hour wait. To complete the sightseeing tour, they visited the New York world's fair.

The return west was made via Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis, north to Winnipeg and west to Coleman.

A new up-to-date display case of the refrigerator type installed in the Red & White Store makes an attractive show case for the meat department of this store, and which will facilitate the selection of prime roasts and cuts of meat. ## Sports

The booking of season tickets for the 1939-40 senior hockey schedule proceeds, with the number approaching the 150 mark, at $8 each.

BUD WOLFE IS SIGNED BY THE CANADIANS

Official announcement was released by President Frank Abbassia this week that Bud Wolfe, of Edmonton, has been signed as goalkeeper for Canadians.

Wolfe, a sterling netminder, is well known to Coleman hockey fans, having played at the local arena four years ago for Drumheller miners, when they were ousted by Canadians from the Provincial Senior hockey playoffs.

Wolfe has attended the Lester Patrick hockey school and received favorable comment from the Patrick officials. Last year he refused an offer from Chicago Black Hawks to play for their farm team in the States. He will come to Coleman in the Fall.

Footballers Travel to Fernie This Week-End

PUCKSTERS WIN AGAIN

Pucksters won another ball game on Sunday afternoon when they trounced Natal Buffaloes 8-4. Their win kept them on the heels of the league-leading Hillecrest club.

Marconi won his third game in three starts, keeping the opposition well in check throughout the game. Pucksters practically clinched the game in the first inning, scoring four runs with two men on bases, when the team was retired. Rain rained the game for several innings, the ball becoming hard to handle.

The Royal Visit

An historic event, which may be expected to leave in its train a lasting and beneficial influence on the course of events in the Dominion, is the recent visit to Canada of Their Majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth.

The occasion, as doubtless nearly everybody knows, marks the first appearance of all time in this country of the reigning monarch, and this in itself is indicative of the growing importance of the Dominion of Canada as a nation and as an entity within the Empire.

Their Majesties' tour across the country was nothing less than a triumphal progress. To those who have always been led to believe that Canadians are an undemonstrative and phlegmatic people, the warmth of the reception accorded the King and Queen by their loyal subjects on this side of the Atlantic was a surprise and occasioned amazement to Britons domiciled in the Motherland.

Nor was the acclaim with which Their Majesties were received confined to Canadians of British birth. On the contrary, it was noted during the progress of the Royal tour, that naturalized Canadians vied with those of British birth in the warmth of their demonstrations and the heartiness of their welcome to their sovereign liege and his beautiful consort.

Touching The Hearts

His Majesty's kindly demeanor combined with his human outlook and attitude inspired respect and high regard on the part of all who had the opportunity to meet him personally and of that much larger multitude who, of necessity, had to be content with little more than a fleeting glance and of reading about his actions and attitude during his visit.

As for Queen Elizabeth, it is no exaggeration to say that her beauty, her consideration for others and her many gracious gestures and kindly actions coupled with an unassuming manner which did not detract one iota from her high rank, took the country by storm. Canadians immediately took her to their hearts and she left an impression which will long be remembered.

One of the beneficial effects which may be expected from this happy event is a tightening of those ties, loose though strong, which bind Canada to the Motherland and the sister units of the Empire. Had there been any thoughts in the minds of other rulers who harbor the wish as father to the thought that these ties are disintegrating, they must be thoroughly disabused by now.

It is also natural to assume that the visit of the King and Queen of Canada to their overseas realm will result in closer unity between the constituent parts of this Dominion, and that is a result which is devoutly to be desired if this country is to assume and maintain the rank in the world of nations to which she is entitled by virtue of her great expense, the richness of her resources and the courage, initiative and vigor of her people. There should be no important cleavages between any two or more of the nine provinces whose peoples demonstrated in such forthright manner their loyalty, admiration and affection for the occupant of the Throne and his queen.

Undoubtedly, too, the opportunity afforded by the Royal visit to the Canadian people to become better acquainted with the King and the Queen will go a long way towards dispelling any desire which may have made some headway among a minority to espouse some of the various "isms" which have for their objective the overthrow of democratic rule. The enthusiasm which the presence of Their Majesties engendered in the hearts and minds of the people of this country can only be translated as a fervent desire to maintain here that form of government of which King George and Queen Elizabeth are the symbolic heads.

Centenating A Friendship

The decision, also, to extend the visit of the rulers of the Empire to Canada's friendly neighbor to the south, proved to be a most happy plan. The welcome accorded Their Majesties, the first British king and queen to set foot in the United States, in that country is ample evidence of the cordial relations existing between the two great democracies and the visit should do much to cement and augment a kindly feeling and co-operative spirit between the peoples of Great Britain and the United States and Canada and the United States respectively.

Their Majesties had not set foot on Canadian soil very long before their presence made itself felt in improved business conditions. The very fact that they made the trip across the Atlantic was evidence that the international situation was not as dangerous as some feared and believed. The evidence inspired confidence, and confidence was all that was needed to speed up the wheels of industry, and that in turn, should go far towards solving some of the country's major problems.

It may well be that the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Canada was destined to mark the turning point in the economic welfare of the country.

Long live King George VI and his beautiful and gracious consort, Queen Elizabeth.

Orders New Plane

Reichsfuehrer Hitler has placed an order for a new aeroplane with space enough for a conference room and sufficient range to fly non-stop from Berlin to New York. The aeroplane is a four-engine, low wing, land machine of a type known as "Condor FW 200." It has an average speed of 220 miles an hour and a cruising range of 5,600 miles.

Britain's State Motor Cars

Drawings In Detail Submitted To The King For Approval

Britain's State motor cars are the most carefully planned. The King takes an active part in their design. Chassis and coachwork drawings in great detail are always submitted to him. Frequently he makes practical suggestions, particularly for the inclusion of some item which may help the chauffeur. The King shows great consideration for the men who drive them. The new Daimler State motor car has been fitted with an inlaid glass roof. This was the King's own suggestion in order to get as much light as possible into the car so that Their Majesties can be more clearly seen on State drives when the weather precludes the landaulet hood being lowered. The King has discontinued his father's practice of riding in special forward seats. These are now frequently occupied by the Princesses. In the new car, special raised cushions have been fitted to these folding occasional seats for the benefit of the little Princesses. The car has the typical high roof, necessary to allow the King to wear tall military and other head-dresses on official occasions. All four of the State cars have a complete "secretariat" concealed in the centre arm rest so that the King may write while motoring.

A Queer Specimen

Bermuda Government Aquarium Has Secured A Lion Fish

Louis Mowbray, curator of the Bermuda government aquarium, is proud of his latest acquisition.

Its name, he admits, is not very impressive. It is "Pterois sp." Visitors to the aquarium, however, hear him call it a "lion fish" as he points out its many unusual features.

"There isn't another one in captivity," Mowbray claims, while admitting that other branches of the species are contained in some collections. The local specimen was given to the aquarium by Vincent Astor, who obtained it in Hawaii from a Christian Holmes, an amateur collector.

The fish is about eight inches long, with pale amber and brown striping and gill-like dorsal fins resembling a lion's mane. Although much smaller than the King of Beasts, the "lion fish" is no safer to handle—for those dorsal spines contain tiny poison-filled sacs. Representing a species which had been thought extinct, "Pterois sp." seemed quite unconcerned as he went about making himself at home in his aquarium tank.

Ministry Of Education Forbids Make-up For Its School Girls

Turkey has ruled that girls at schools and universities must not try to look like movie stars. The Ministry of Education of Istanbul has notified heads of schools that the girls must not have their hair waved, curled, dyed or otherwise deviate from the "natural".

The misses are also forbidden to use lipstick, powder, face cream or other forms of makeup, and must not wear jewelry or silk stockings.

Boys must have their hair neatly and closely cropped.

Rubber Life Rafts

U.S. Bombers Carry Them Fully Equipped For Emergency

Rubber life rafts capable of supporting 20 men have been adopted by the United States army air corps for its largest bombers. The rafts, which weigh about 11 pounds each, occupy only three cubic feet of space when folded. Equipped with flares, drinking water, repair kits and four coats, each seats 10 persons and has life lines to support an equal number in the water.

The Easiest Way

In view of the prescribed distances at which photographers had to remain during the royal stops on the Western Ontario itinerary, it was suggested that the best way to obtain a picture of their Majesties and avoid the crowd was to buy a postage stamp.

England Was Her Birthplace

But Queen Elizabeth Claims Scotland As Her Native Land

It is generally assumed that Queen Elizabeth is Scotch. Her father is a Scottish earl and her mother was English. The principal family seat is Glamis Castle, in the county of Forfar, Scotland, but the Earl of Strathmore has another mansion at St. Paul's, Walsbury, Hertfordshire, England, and it was there that the future Queen was born. Legally, a child takes the nationality of its father, therefore the Queen is a Scot.

But Her Majesty goes further than that. In her speech at the laying of the foundation stone of the Supreme Court building at Ottawa, she referred to Scotland as "my native land." When she spoke to a group of men from the Forfar county at Vancouver she referred to it as "my native county."

There is a story told of a Scotsman who was boasting about the number of eminent men who were born there. An Englishman said, "Surely you will not claim that Shakespeare was a Scot?" "No," replied the Scot, "but he was good enough to be one."

Queen Elizabeth may not be a native of Scotland—but she is good enough to have been.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Fastest Regular Train

Milwaukee Stream-Liner's Average Speed Is 74.6 Miles An Hour

The New York Times says the fastest regular start-to-stop steam train in the world is now made by the Morning Hiawatha of the Milwaukee road, according to Eric Crickmay, railroad expert of Thomas Cook & Son. He reports that this new stream-liner sets the record with an average speed of 74.6 miles an hour in making the 73.3 miles from Sparta to Portage, Wis., in 63 minutes.

"Who are those people who are cheering?" asked the recruit as the soldiers marched to the train.

"Those," replied the veteran, "are the people who are not going."

Strength Of Empire

Trend Is To Better The Condition Of The Masses

"I'll tell my Dad."

It remained for Ald. Laikie, of Lethbridge, to furnish the best proof of Queen Elizabeth's democracy of spirit. Ald. Laikie knew her father in Scotland. When the Queen met the Lethbridge alderman and he told her of his acquaintance with her father, she said, quite as casually as one Old Countryman to another, "I'll tell my Dad."

If there has been a tendency in democracies during the past quarter of a century to set up classes which show the extremes up in contrast—and we fear there has been—the humanness of King George and Queen Elizabeth shows during their Canadian tour should do much to cure it. The British Empire will continue strong as long as the whole trend is to better the position of the masses, and that betterment will come about the sooner if there is a sympathetic understanding of democratic principles by those in high places.—Lethbridge Herald.

Revenue From Wolves

Considerable Source Of Wealth Derived From Wolf Pelt

Canada has a general unsuspected source of wealth in its wolf skins. Alive the wolf is a marauder, destroying sheep and poultry on Algonia farms, for example, and doing serious depredation among our game.

But dead, his pelt is a thing of value, whether it be for robes, fur coats or other uses. And at times it provides a substantial export trade.

In the fiscal year ending March 31, 1937, for instance, exports of wolf pelts were valued at $655,018, and in the five years from 1934 to 1938 the total value of such exports was $1,682,792, not very much short of two million dollars.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

Opinion Of One Woman

Television Announcer Says Broadcasting Needs A Man's Voice

Jasmine Hight, the taller of two girls who announce the British Broadcasting Corporation's television programs, took a bow when viewers voted they preferred women to men announcers. But, said she, they probably would not have voted so if they could not see her. "In television, I suppose, the public finds a woman announcer easier on the eyes, but there is something about non-vision broadcasting that seems to need a man's voice."

A New Silver Alloy

Banks Are Protected

Any Money Stolen By Bandits Is Fully Insured

The Peterborough Examiner says: There has been now and then some argument regarding the loss suffered by a bank when it is robbed, some contending that the branch would have to look upon the loss the same as one sustained in any other way, while others held that money was insured.

The Examiner made inquiry through the Canadian Press service at Toronto, and the reply was: "Chief Inspector's office of Canadian Bank of Commerce reports universal practice in chartered banks in Canada is to have all funds insured, so no robbery is at the expense of the bank involved."

The money to pay for the insurance of funds would probably be assessed against the earnings of all branches. Banks have weapons and in nearly all cases there is training in how to use them, but banks do not encourage employees to start shooting it out with any invaders. The individual can use his own discretion regarding such a move, but the official view is that a man's life is worth more than the money which may be stolen.

Tourists Visit Britain

The United States sent 97,258 visitors to Great Britain during 1938. A White Paper announced. The Government statistics showed Germany second with 79,552 and France third with 69,133. Total of foreigners visiting in Britain, the statement said, was 245,672 as compared with 297,142 in 1937.

British Freighters Were Able To Deliver Supplies To Tientsin

Tientsin. — The situation in the blockaded British concession here became less serious when two British freighters, the Yat Shing and Chengtu, docked without being molesting by Japanese.

They brought supplies to the population that saw itself threatened by a shortage of fresh food as Japanese patrol boats turned back all Chinese junk, laden with meat, fish and vegetables, attempting to proceed up the Hai River to the area.

Hoping the Japanese were about to ease their grip on the port, shipping lines called their representatives in Shanghai to resume making deliveries to Tientsin. These had been suspended on account of British consular authorities, in view of the practical impossibility of complying with Japanese restrictions.

A. E. Tipper, chairman of the British municipal area council, described the Japanese blockade of the port, then in its fifth day, as complete in every respect.

Residents during the weekend fell back on reserve stocks of tinned foods and groceries. The concession still had supplies of staples such as rice and flour, sufficient for some months. Japanese sources declared British authorities had declared an embargo on flour to prevent any being moved out of the concession.

British residents were reported as determined to retain control over their area.

Their indignation mounted as a result of treatment of two Britons, a man and a young girl, who attempted to enter. The Japanese sentries, it was said, compelled the man to strip and it was reported the girl was "grossly insulted" by a Chinese policeman who refused to let her pass until some Germans came to her aid.

Despite repeated representations from the British consular-general, the Japanese continued to detain G. A. Smith, a British subject arrested following an argument with a Chinese policeman.

British authorities in the North China port urged their nationals not to move beyond the limits of the concession in view of increasing animosity toward them and with the issue between Japan and Great Britain sharpened by Japanese declarations of determination to increase the pressure unless Britain discontinued aid to China.

General Hamma, commander of the Japanese garrison in Tientsin voiced Japan's intention of continued pressure.

His statement, as reported in North China, deplored the expressed increasing determination to carry on restrictions "until Great Britain abandons her policy of assisting Chiang Kai-Shek and the British concession in Tientsin collapses."

He further was quoted as threatening the Japanese army would launch "tighter isolation measures" if British authorities undertook economic reprisals.

Stating the Japanese were able to cope with any British efforts, Hamma declared "such steps will be worthless unless America co-operates"—which America is unlikely to do over the Tientsin issue.

Heavy Rains Augment Moisture Reserves Over Western Canada

Winnipeg. — Moisture reserves over the prairie crop lands, abnormally low early this spring, have been replenished by heavy June rains.

Dominion meteorological records from April 1 to June 12, correlated with crop acreage figures, show that of 28,890,000 acres estimated as sown to wheat in the three prairie provinces, 13,540,000 have received better than normal rainfall, while on 13,350,000 acres precipitation was below normal for the April 1-June 12 period.

Showers of the past few days, however, transferred some of the below normal acreage in southern Alberta to a normal basis and the cool weather "prevailing" has "conserved" moisture where it is below average.

Manitoba has not shared in the June rains to the same extent as Alberta and Saskatchewan. Meteorological records for Manitoba indicate that out of 3,200,000 acres in wheat, only about 800,000 acres have had above normal rainfall since April 1 and 2,400,000 acres below normal. How-

Declines Gift

Queen Elizabeth Unable To Accept Offer Of One Of The Thousand Islands

Brockville, Ont. Mayor John T. Horan of Prescott announced that the Queen "sincerely appreciates" but cannot accept his offer of the gift of one of the Thousand Islands to commemorate the royal visit to this part of the Dominion.

Mayor Horan immediately sent another message to Her Majesty to request to having one of the islands in the St. Lawrence group bear her name.

The Queen replied promptly she could consider such a request only if made through the Canadian government. Mayor Horan, who is also president of the Thousand Islands-St. Lawrence River-Rideau Lakes Association, said he would visit Ottawa soon to present his request through official channels.

May Re-Visit Canada

King And Queen Express The Hope That They May Be Able To Come Again

Charlottetown. — King George and Queen Elizabeth expressed in a written address signed by His Majesty, "the hope that at some future time they may be able, accompanied by our daughters, to visit you again."

The address was handed by the King to Premier Thomas Campbell who read from another address Prince Edward Island's official welcome to their Majesties.

King George thanked the people of the province for their warm welcome, thanked the premier "for the affectionate references to Her Majesty" in the official welcome, and said "we share your hope that at some time they may be able, accompanied by our daughters, to visit you again."

Study Farm Costs

Survey Of Production Costs Of Alberta Farms To Be Made

Edmonton. — Survey into production and operation costs of Alberta farms with particular reference to milk costs will be undertaken jointly by the Dominion and provincial governments and the University of Alberta, it was announced here. The study will begin about July 1.

The work outlined will be carried on over a two-year period. This year it is proposed to study costs of 200 farmers between Edmonton and Red Deer.

Waste-Fuel Methods

Newton, Kas. — "How to waste your grain," commented Dr. Edward Benes as he watched a combine on a wheat farm near here. "You walk through it and trample it down," the former Czech-Slovakian president said. "Some of the wheat is not picked up by the machine and you do not salvage it. That would never do in Czechoslovakia. When I was a boy we reaped and threshed by hand and we gleaned every head of grain."

Abolition Of Appeals

Begin Argument On Reference To The Supreme Court Of Canada

Ottawa. — Argument on the Dominion government's reference to the supreme court of Canada relating to the abolition of appeals to the judicial committee of the Imperial privy council will begin this week. Facts have been filed by the Dominion government and the provincial governments of British Columbia, Manitoba and Ontario.

It was learned neither Quebec nor Saskatchewan will submit argument. Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Alberta have yet to file facts, but it is understood they will be represented.

The reference to the supreme court was brought about by the bill which Hon. C. H. Cahan, Conservative member of the House of Commons for Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George, introduced into the house last session. The measure contemplated an amendment to the supreme court act aimed to abolish appeals to the privy council.

The Dominion argues Mr. Cahan's bill is constitutional, and support for this position is given by Manitoba, Both Ontario and British Columbia argue the measure is unconstitutional.

The Dominion takes its stand on the residuary powers vested in the parliament of Canada to make laws for the peace, order and good government of Canada. These powers, it is argued, were conferred on the Dominion by the introductory words of section 91 of the British North America Act, 1867.

It is contended that in 1875 parliament established "a court of common law and equity in and over the Dominion of Canada" called "the supreme court of Canada," and provided that the court "shall have, hold and exercise an appellate, civil and criminal jurisdiction within and throughout the Dominion of Canada."

Travelling Post Office

Hundreds Of Thousands Of Pieces Of Mail Handled On Royal Tour

Ottawa. — Unsurprisingly by the public but lauded by departmental officials for efficient performance of an exacting task, the royal train post office closed with the departure from Canada of their Majesties.

The travelling post office staff of three experts in the last month handled literally hundreds of thousands of pieces of mail for the King and Queen personally, for the royal party, government officials, accompanying newspaper people and—last but not least—stamp collectors.

No official estimate is available as to the quantity of official mail but on the Canadian end of the tour at least 150,000 pieces of mail were handled for stamp collectors. At Washington alone the train picked up 150,000 pieces of mail for American collectors intent on saving the distinctive stamp cancellations. Much more than that was taken on at New York.

There was a continual flow of mail to the train through the external affairs office here from the Canadian, British and American governments, for which assured secret delivery was as essential as speed.

Sentence Cancelled

London. — The court of appeal quashed the conviction and annulled the ten year sentence of Gerald Francis Wharton, convicted in connection with recent Irish Republican Army bombings. The appeal contended that the sentencing judge committed prejudice and based the sentence on Wharton's association with the I.R.A. in 1920, which was irrelevant.

McGILL HEAD RESIGNS

Dr. Lewis W. Duggan, appointed Principal of McGill University less than two years ago, has resigned to take over a new post in the United States. He went to Montreal to fill the post left vacant by the resignation of Arthur E. Morgan, the English-born principal who left McGill because he could not see "eye-to-eye" with the Board of Governors.

Health Insurance

Facilities For Treating The Sick Said To Be Inadequate

Toronto. — Canada's facilities for treating the sick and for preventing sickness were described as "grossly inadequate" in a paper by Dr. Grant Fleming of Montreal to the Canadian Public Health Association convention.

Dr. Fleming, dean of the faculty of medicine and director of the public health department of McGill University, spoke in a symposium on medical aid in Canada. The United States and Great Britain, Sir Arthur MacNalty, chief medical officer of Britain, and Dr. Nathan Sinar, professor of hygiene at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, spoke for their countries.

Dr. Fleming said unqualified personnel in health departments constituted a grave danger.

Infant and tuberculosis mortality rates show medical care in its broadest sense is relatively inadequate in Canada, he said.

Western Canada has led the way toward some form of health insurance through its municipal physician service.

He suggested some health insurance scheme was essential in Canada, for families with a family income below $1,000 a year were "medically indigent."

Dr. Sinar declared the medical profession two years ago was opposed to health insurance. Now they agree it is necessary but disagree only on whether it should be compulsory or voluntary.

Churchill Insurance Rates

No Change To Be Made This Year On Ships Using This Port

London. — Insurance rates on ships using the Hudson Bay route from British ports to Churchill, Man., will remain unchanged this year, the Imperial shipping committee announced.

The shipping committee's statement said, however, "the joint hull committee have taken note of the fact that there are already at Churchill for shipment from the 1938 season's crop some eight cargoes of wheat and they have agreed that if some 20 cargoes in all are brought away from Churchill during the 1939 season and no serious loss occurs they will be prepared to give favorable consideration to the question of recommending a reduction in 1940 from the rates of premium chargeable in 1939."

IN THE NAZI PURGE

According to reports which leaked out from Berlin the above two were among the thirty or more officers in the latest Nazi party purge of the army for opposition to foreign policies. Left is General Hermann Geyer, and right is General Stuepfelg, high air officer relieved of his command.

French Submarine Disappears With Loss Of Crew Of 63 Men

Saigon. French Indo-China. — French officials announced they had abandoned hope for the four officers and 59 crewmen aboard the submarine Phenix which disappeared after starting an undersea run in the Bay of Cam-Hahn.

A communiqué announced sea-patrol and rescue craft had failed to find any trace so far of the submarine, one of the 30 of the Redoubtable class of the French navy.

The Phenix was last while taking part in manoeuvres with L'Espar, a sister submarine, and other warships. The sea was more than 300 feet deep where the craft was last seen, the communiqué added.

It said every available French naval and air unit would continue the search but that failure to locate the craft after almost 48 hours indicated the entire crew had perished.

Cause of the disaster to the craft, which has a displacement of 1,379 tons on the surface and 2,060 tons submerged, was a mystery, authorities said.

A special commission of inquiry has been named to investigate the loss, which followed closely upon the tragedies of the British Thetis and the United States Squaw.

The Phenix was part of the French 1927 program in which were included the Persee, Protee and Pegease. A fifth vessel of that year's program, the Promethee, sank during trials in July, 1932, with the loss of 63 men.

Other craft of the same type were constructed under various programs ranging from 1924 to 1930. This type craft has proved most successful in operation. Two of them, the Vengeur and Redoubtable, performed a cruise to the West Indies in 1930, making a speed of 19 knots without being pressed. They have a radius of 30 days cruising without refuelling.

The Phenix was completed in 1931 and has consequently seen several years' service in contrast to the Thetis and Squaw which were lost during their trials.

She is larger than the Thetis and much similar in size to the Squaw.

Official France took a step toward national mourning with cancellation of an official luncheon which President Lebrun was to give at the Elysée palace for the Sultan of Morocco.

Empire Sky Trails

Canadian To Make Trip By Air For Lecture Material

London. — Rev. W. G. Martin, former Ontario minister of welfare, has left for Singapore in an Imperial Airways flying boat, bound on a reporting trip that will take him over 24,500 miles.

Mr. Martin arrived in England on June 11, and arranged to fly over all the Empire airways of India and Africa, gathering material for a lecture on the "Sky Trails of the Empire."

Canadian Wheat In Store

Ottawa. — Canadian wheat in store for the week ended June 9 totalled 113,116,782 bushels, compared with 115,663,252 the previous week and 29,174,692 bushels in the corresponding week last year, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

Charge Of Espionage

Berlin Is Asked To Withdraw German Consul From Liverpool

London. — Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons he had asked the German government to withdraw its consul from Liverpool as a result of the consul's alleged connection with a recent espionage case.

The prime minister said that after studying the court records he had to accept the conclusion that the German consulate in Liverpool was implicated in a case in which it was alleged that a man named Joseph Kelley had been assisted in making contact with foreign agents to whom plans of government ordinance factories were sold.

"We have therefore requested the German government to withdraw Consul Herr Reinhardt," he said. "The request was made two days ago."

The King And Queen Send Farewell Message To Canadian People

Halifax. — Saying farewell to Canada with "memories that will never dim" and with "minds and hearts full," the King and Queen spoke to the millions of Canadians who have greeted them on their tour of the Dominion.

Over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and an Empire hookup their Majesties each sent a brief message of thanks—a "bread and butter" letter to everyone in the Dominion. The King spoke a paragraph of his speech in French, as he had done at Quebec.

The King said: "The time has come for the Queen and myself to say good-bye to the people of Canada."

"You have given us a welcome of which the memory will always be dear to us. In our travels across your great country, we have seen not a little of its infinite variety of natural wealth and natural beauty."

"We have had the privilege of meeting Canadians, old and young, of many proud racial origins and in all walks of life. We hope we have made many friends among you."

"We have had the opportunity also, of crossing your border and paying an all too brief visit to Canada's great and friendly neighbor to the south. Our minds and hearts are full. We leave your shores after some of the most inspiring and illuminating weeks in our lives."

(The following paragraph was delivered in French.) "My first duty is to thank you all from the bottom of my heart. In a very short time you have enabled us to see many things. We have to thank you not only for your personal kindness, but for the perfection of your arrangements. I must say, I think we have almost performed a miracle in surmounting the many difficulties presented by covering so vast a space in so limited a time."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

COLLECTING for community enterprises, churches and various other worthy causes is usually an arduous task. It is in the main a thankless task. The only reward, an intangible reward too, is that of reaching the objective you set out to achieve, which is seldom done.

For instance, this week a drive has been in progress in the business area to find if sufficient support could be secured towards providing artificial ice for winter sports. Of course, the list is headed by a few enthusiasts who are ready to back their enthusiasm with liberal subscriptions. Little effort is entailed in securing their names.

From then on the work becomes increasingly trying. There are disappointments to be overcome, but fortunately the well-disposed far outnumber those who either give grudgingly or not at all. You have to be fortified with countless answers to innumerable questions, but these are to be expected, for if a person is asked in what manner the money is to be used, he has every right to be informed.

BUT—and it is a big but—the hardest nut to crack is a blank refusal, and of course one must acknowledge that the refuser may have perfectly valid reasons for his attitude. The giving is absolutely voluntary, therefore one cannot exercise pressure as if demanding payment of taxes on property or possessions. There are many who already having a "hunch" of what you are after, readily support your efforts and kindly take as little of your time as possible, for it must be remembered that those who usually undertake the thankless job of canvassing are the busiest people and who sacrifice their time for the common good.

An interesting sidelight was obtained in an interview with a working man while canvassing. The conversation turned to other community activities. This man takes a very active part in his off-working hours in two other activities of a very useful nature which provide a certain amount of pleasure to all. The conversation turned to churches. "I do not attend church services," he remarked, but I feel it my duty to send my subscription, and not let others pay for the services that I or my family may desire, for we all at some time in our lives require the ministrations of the church."

It made us think that if the majority took this view of their obligations to their respective churches, church boards and ministers would not have to continually implore people to support these institutions. Moreover, it would make the community a much more pleasant place in which to live were this attitude more widely prevalent.

If every increase in municipal, provincial or federal taxation was made payable by a direct tax, the public would take far more interest in governmental policies. For instance, if a council decided to make an expenditure and each person was called on to pay direct a proportion of the cost, instead of it being levied in the taxes, there would be greater interest exercised in spending ratepayers' money, and the ratepayers themselves would watch expenditures more closely.

SEVEN years of fairly steady employment in the local mines has resulted in considerable building of homes. In the original townsite few building lots are unoccupied, while the outer area has taken on a decidedly changed appearance with new houses erected or in course of construction. Coleman has indeed been fortunate compared with many other places in Alberta.

THE arrival of the King and Queen in England to-day will be the occasion for a triumphal re-entry to their homeland after a glorious tour throughout Canada and part of United States. Their visit to this country will always be remembered as a unifying factor in helping to dissipate many false notions of each province trying to pose as a separate sovereign state.

Social Credit is fine for the political jobsters who see easier ways of making a living than really working. The party of "purity and grace" that was going to be so righteous before it came into power has proved worse than anything we have known. Well, its a long lane without a turning, and there will be a lot of heads lopped off at the next change of government. Such is the curse of our provincial politics. Social Credit has made it more noticeable than ever.

MR. LANDREY SPEAKS

"Taxes have increased, debt has increased, unemployment has increased, and yet our ability to pay has decreased," he said.

To which one might remark: What has Alberta's S.C. government done to relieve these burdens? The answer is—nothing! Instead, taxes have been increased for everyone. Another instance of "wind and soapbuds."

Among new buildings under construction are a house for Mr. Willett on Seventh street, and a house for G. D'Amico on Fourth street.

A classified ad. in The Journal and Bulletin will reach every home in Coleman.

A master course in piano is to be given at the University of Alberta by the internationally known concert pianist, Mr. Jacques Jolas, from July 17 to 29. A complete outline of the course is contained in a leaflet available at The Journal office.

There has been various guesses at the size of the ice area in the arena. It is 181 feet 4 inches by 81 feet 2 inches. It will require about five miles of pipe for artificial ice.

Vanishing Frontiers

NOT so many years ago Western Canada was being opened up by pushing the railroads further into the unorganized territories. The uncertainty of travel by prairie trail, corduroy road, by river, lake and stream gave way to the regular schedules of the railways. More recently the automobile has developed from the crude, uncertain "horseless carriage" to the modern streamline beauty of 1939, with all its power, comfort and speed. The flying machine marked a milestone in civilization—an achievement dreamed about by men of imagination for centuries. Today, airplane lines span Canada. Giant ships cover the North.

With the development of fast freight, the automobile and regular air service, the "Mail Order Way" has become the fast way, the economical way to buy. Every transaction is given immediate attention, prompt service and is backed by the EATON guarantee—"Goods Satisfactory or Money Refunded." When the selection is large, the prices low and the service quick, shopping by mail is a pleasure.

"Wind and Soapbuds" is the term given by the Financial Post to a certain brand of politics in Alberta.

"Miracles" That Did Not Happen!

Considering the fact that four years ago 54 per cent. of Alberta's electors believed they were to be given a $25 monthly, one can easily understand why crystal gazers and fortune tellers can so easily foist their wiles on people. What Mr. Aberhart put over in a big way, thereby securing at one fell swoop a nice comfortable income for a few years, least of all, are doing all the time, and an unsuspecting percentage will always be quite ready to "fall" for the bait.

Maclean's Magazine published a most amusing story of a man who attended a "faith" meeting, and so imbued did he become that he believed he could actually fly. Many, in their dreams, have fancied they were soaring over skyscrapers and mountains, but some are clever enough to do better than that. They can make people believe impossible things, and while people at a whole are not aware of it, eventually brings home to them the truth, when the vision fades and the rainbow no more sheds its glorious hues. Optimism can and does often exceed the bounds of common-sense—in other words it is the heart and not the head that governs in many. Trust Mr. Aberhart to use his head.

That Andy and Amos dialogue between Dean Aberhart and Cyril Hutchinson on Sundays takes the cake. Fine stuff for a government leader to be cooking up. No wonder when you travel after people look at you rather queerly when they hear you come from Alberta. They seem to believe we are all a little bit "nuts," and can you wonder?

As this paper was once characterized as "the biggest liar of them all," there is hardly any need to tell you to take a grain of salt with this hodge-podge of comment. Even if you do not agree, don't threaten to wreck the paper, for like Aberhart with his broadcast, a newspaper's privilege is to have its own opinion—in fact it's a right which all Democratic people enjoy.

And as a parting shot—where is Major Douglas? There was a wizard of meteoric flight across the pages of Alberta's history appears to have ended in ignominy.

The Churches

ST. ALBAN'S CHURCH

Rev. J. R. Hague, A.Th., Incumbent.
Trinity III.—10 a.m., Sunday School.
7 p.m., Evensong and Sermon.

Read Psalm 22.

Two ranchmen came upon the body of a lone settler caught in river-side brush after a sudden flood. There was no help within a day's ride. They laid the body in a shallow grave and looked at each other.

"Ought to say somethin'," said one. "Waal, listen," said the other. "I recollect this from way back home." It was the Shepherd Psalm, word for word with the unerring memory fixed in childhood.

For perhaps 2500 years these few verses of trust have been spoken. In the midst of deserts, in the crowded city, as ships have gone down. In childhood's tones. As the aged have breathed their last: "He leadeth me... I fear no evil." Exch.

THE UNITED CHURCH

The repeated showery days have revealed the worn-out condition of the roof of the church building. The leaking has already caused serious damage to the ceiling. At the regular meeting of the managers on Sunday afternoon it was agreed that the matter must be attended to right away. Plans were made for an appeal to the membership of the church for the necessary money with which to purchase the shingles. It was felt that the labor would be gladly donated. The roof of the church proper will be entirely resingled. The clubroom will be left till a later date. The members are asked to make their contribution as cheerfully and as soon as possible and not wait to be asked. Any delay will lead to greater expense in the future.

The services for Sunday are as usual with the Church school at the close of the morning service. During July and August the evening service will be discontinued.

CHURCH OF THE NAZERENE

Rev. Leonard Falk, pastor.
Prayer meeting Tuesday evening at 7.30.
Bible study Friday evening at 7.30.
Sunday services: 12 noon and 7.30.

Boy Scout and Girl Guide Notes

FIRST COLEMAN GUIDE CO. NOTES

On Sunday the members of the First Coleman Guide Company attended the morning service at St. Alban's church, with the Cubs and First Brownie Pack.

On Monday evening the final parade of the season was held, when badges earned during the year were awarded by the district commissioner, in the presence of the Second Guide Company, the mothers of the First Company guides and some friends.

The badge work has been very well done this year, the following being awarded:

Dorothy Cooke: Life saver (earned last year at camp), entertainer, knitter, handywoman, homemaker, scribe, naturalist, hostess, emergency helper.

Frances Short: Entertainer, scribe, naturalist, friend to the deaf, handywoman, laundress, emergency.

Patricia Emmerson: Hostess, entertainer, mixer, child nurse, cook.

Elizabeth McEwen: Second class, swimmer, domestic service, child nurse.

Thelma Williams: Entertainer, hostess, cook, child nurse.

Eileen Hoyle: Second class, child nurse, knitter, domestic service.

Joyce Williams: Hostess, entertainer, domestic service, child nurse.

Frances Dibble: Second class, child nurse.

Shirley Hulbert: Second class, child nurse.

Lillian Ford: Second class.

Doris Jackson: Second class.

Two girls, one now in Rangers and one in Pentitons, were also awarded badges which they earned last summer, while members of the First Coleman Company.

Edith Ash: Hostess, entertainer.

Jane Borden: Entertainer.

Dorothy Cooke and Frances Short now hold 17 and 19 badges, respectively, and last spring were awarded All-Round Cards.

This winter they have been working on the badges required before application can be made to have their headquarters for Gold Cord examinations, the highest award a Guide may work for.

As Frances Short is still in hospital, she was not able to be at the presentation. Frances is the usual reporter for this column.

The Company will meet in September, the second Monday, at St. Alban's hall.

Several of the Guides intend camping in July, at Rock Lake, under the leadership of Miss A. Yull, assistant camp adviser for Alberta, and our district commissioner, Mrs. R. H. Campbell.

Leaders in charge of the First Co. are Miss Winnifred Dunlop, captain, and Mrs. C. Rose, lieutenant.

Nick Nicholas informs The Journal that the Boy Scouts are endeavoring to raise funds through the sale of membership tickets to enable them to camp at Waterton Lakes in July. Your help would be greatly appreciated.

p.m.; Sunday school 11 a.m.; street service 6.30 p.m.

Rev. and Mrs. Falk arrived last Friday to take up their work in Coleman. Miss Thomson will be leaving next week for her home in Red Deer.

MOTOR FUEL FROM COAL

Dr. Francis W. Godwin of Armour Institute made newspaper headlines by driving his automobile for several miles on "liquid coal." It isn't so much the fact that he used a mixture of about 30 per cent pulverized coal and the rest fuel oil plus hydrocarbons that is astonishing, but rather, that once again research on new ways to use coal as fuel is making headway in the United States.

For almost 1300 years after Theophrastus wrote in his treatise "On Stones" about fossil rocks "called coals, which kindle and burn like wood-coals," this specialized sedimentary rock served only for fuel. Then came a time when German dyes, the best in the world, were hard to get and world chemists elsewhere had to get busy and unlock for themselves the secret of the rainbow hidden in coal tar. Perfumery was likewise an article limited in use until chemists found in coal an extension to the entire range of "colors" used on the perfumer's palette.

Seeking a new process for producing motor-spirit, British technologists recently uncovered a wax by-product from which soap could be made. Paint and varnish researchers a few years ago found a way to gain the valuable synthetic resins they need—likewise from coal. And Germany makes "buna" or artificial "rubber" from hydrocarbon by-products of coal.

Dr. Godwin's new fuel is actually black in color, something quite different even in these days of colored gasoline. But in view of recent British attempts to convert "black diamonds" into suitable motor fuel, we wonder if among the "secrets" not divulged by the Chicago researcher, he has overcome the hitherto serious objection to pulverized coal—excessive cylinder

A War Souvenir

Treasures A Tin Of Chocolate Given By Queen Victoria

One of the 40,000 ration tins of chocolate given by Queen Victoria to her troops in Africa during the Boer War at Christmas 1899 is the treasured possession of P. Reed, 62-year-old unemployed printer of Hastings. Reed was serving as lance-corporal in the Royal Berk Regiment when he was given the chocolate.

Many times in recent years he has been tempted to sell the tin to the highest bidder. At other times he has been so hungry that it was hard to keep from eating it.

The red, blue and gold tin bears Queen Victoria's initials, a crown, the words "South Africa 1900," and a message, "I wish you a Happy New Year.—Victoria R.I."

Was Ready With Rent

New Jersey Rector Could Have Paid It To King George

Although the King and Queen did not stop at Freehold, N.J., on their way to Fort Hancock, Rev. John Schwabke, rector of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal (Anglican) Church, had three peppercorns ready to pay three years' rent to his "landlords". The rent is payable under a charter granted by King George II. In 1736, Mr. Schwabke paid the rent in full for two centuries on June 4, 1936, when he sent 200 peppercorns to King Edward VIII.

A peppercorn is the seed of the black pepper plant and is very small.

A Clever Reply

Not A Modern Pastime

People Not Greatly Interested In Reading Books These Days

John Macfie, the poet laureate, has expressed the view that people nowadays do not read as much as they did 30 years ago. That view will generally be accepted. People nowadays have more to claim their attention, and countless numbers sit listening to radio sets and gramophones, or seeing moving pictures, whereas in former days the book was the main pastime indoors. The popularity of the motor car and the encouragement given in various ways to outdoor life and recreation add to the demands on time formerly spent in reading; and international affairs to absorb the interest of everyone that newspapers rather than books claim the reader's spare moments. Nevertheless, the issue of new books seems to go on unabated, and books of every description, though they may be once read to satisfy feelings of curiosity and the craze for something new, are quickly relegated to bookshelves, to become little more than lumber. The day when the best books were read and re-read for their literary style seems to have gone as certainly as the days of the stage coach and sailing vessel.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Pen Will Be Valued

King George Used One Belonging To M.P. For Sherbrooke

C. B. Howard, Liberal member of parliament for Sherbrooke, solved an embarrassing situation for the King and Queen at the signing of the city register.

The king stepped forward, took up one of two fountain pens on a small table, but the pen would not write. He tried the other pen, but it, too, was dry. His Majesty grinned, looked up for help.

Howard stepped forward, produced his own fountain pen, and the King and Queen signed in turn.

CHEERY NEW SLIP COVER NO TROUBLE TO MAKE

Know Easy Tricks For Trim Fit

How gay old chairs look—all dressed up in slip covers! You can easily make such a cover for any type of chair, a wing chair, too.

The cover in our picture is in the half-way stage, but you can see how lovely it will be—a riot of bright flowers on natural linen.

To make, smooth fabric down inside back and over seat, leaving a 4-inch tuck-in between back and seat. Pin along top and sides and cut 1/2 inches outside pins for seams. On a wing chair allow an extra 1 1/2 inches to tuck in between wing and inside back—along seam marked A in sketch.

Fit apron, arms, sides and back the same pin-on way—and no trick to covering the wings if you first cut simple paper patterns.

If your chair is broader at the top than at the middle, make extra long pleckets at both back seams, marked B in the sketch.

Finishing seams, fitting the founce—each step goes quickly, smoothly with the aid of diagrams and directions in our 32-page booklet. Tell how to make smart slip covers for all types of chairs, sofas, for automobile seats. Suggests trimmings, fabrics.

Gulf Stream Affected

Authorities Believe Icebergs Have Changed Its Course

Skippers and the ice patrol report that the North Atlantic is seeing more icebergs than for many years. They got so good a start from the British Bay region that they are drifting full size to latitudes in which big ones have not been frequent since 1912, year of the Titanic disaster.

Steamships on the lanes to Europe, which since early May have been using an emergency southern track, have been advised by the International Ice Patrol to swing still farther south until the danger has passed.

This year's conditions have combined to send about 200 more than the normal number of bergs on the way to the Grand Banks. The patrol will chart about 600 of the 800 supposed to be in the drift. One of the coast guard vessels received a report in one day. The biggest of them was 600 feet long and showed 135 feet above the water, which would mean 1,080 feet below water, a mass heavy enough to ruin any ship that hit it.

What the north country calls a warm winter is believed to be the cause of the launching of the unusual number of bergs, and it was probably by their own strength that they made their way in such size and numbers to the steamer lanes. They continued on their way down, to contribute so much chill to the Labrador current that it was able where it met the gulf stream, to overcome much of the force of the warm water, in an effect to turn it slightly away from its course. There may be further notes on that by meteorologists in the British Isles.

The Victoria Cross

Most Coveted Military Decoration

The Victoria Cross, the most coveted of all military decorations, was instituted Jan. 29, 1856-82 years ago. There are 380 recipients of the honor living. Fifty-seven won it before the Great War, between 1881 and 1905, and one since the Great War, in 1921. All who were prior to 1882 are now dead. One hundred and eleven crosses were won in the Crimean War and 182 in the Indian Mutiny, three of which were specially awarded to civilians. The sole claim to it is "valour"—"conspicuous bravery or devotion to the country in presence of the enemy."

The first recipient was a sailor—the last an Indian soldier of the 28th Punjab. The South Wales Borderers—the old 24th Foot—have won more crosses than any other regiment in the army.

Three Proudest Men

Were Baggage Masters And Chauffeur Chosen To Serve Royalty

The three proudest men in the Royal suite were Mr. Southgate, chauffeur to Lord Tweedsmuir, the Governor-General; S. A. Bileau, of the Canadian National Railways; and H. B. McComell, of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Southgate was chosen to act as chauffeur to the King and Queen all through the tour, and Mr. Bileau and Mr. McComell were the baggage masters on the Royal train. They had the task of looking after every piece of luggage carried by the Royal party and by the journalists and others travelling on the train.

Some idea of the size of their job can be gained from the fact that there were over 80 boxes, trunks, suitcases, and other items in the personal luggage of the King and Queen alone.

The letter was forwarded by royal command. It reads: "I am commanded by the King to send this message to you, who are a student at the Ontario School for the Blind. Their Majesties send their best wishes to you and hope that it will be possible to put this in Braille so that you may read it and keep this memento of Their Majesties' visit in Brantford."

The famous copper tun kept in the cell of Heidelberg castle was 36 feet long and 26 feet in diameter, and had a capacity of 49,000 gallons. It is said to have been the world's largest wine cask.

Sad Man—"I do that now."

PAUL REVIEWS HIS LIFE

Golden text: I have fought the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith. II. Timothy 4:7.

Lesson: II. Corinthians 11:16-12:10; Philippians 1:12-24; 3:7-16; II. Timothy 4:7, 8.

Devotional reading: Philippians 4:4-13.

Explanations and Comments

All Is Well, Philippians 1:12-24. "Paul, in prison awaiting trial, sent off one of the most joyful of all his letters—the letter to the Philippians. Even in prison, far away from the work which he loved, Paul was of top of life. Why? Because Paul had committed himself to a course greater and of more importance to him than his own comfort or even life itself. He knew that God was on his side and was stronger than all fortune or misfortune" (Eugene Carson Blake).

I would have you understand, my brothers, that my affairs have really advanced the gospel, throughout the whole of the praetorian guard and elsewhere it is recognized that I am imprisoned on account of my connection with Christ (Moffatt's translation).

Paul's Goal, Philippians 3:7-11. The things which from his old Jewish standpoint he had most highly valued, Paul was well content to lose in exchange for Christ. He puts the knowledge of Christ in one scale and in the other "all things," and the "all things" are light as a feather—the knowledge of God is of more value than all things put together. The old assets were weighed less than the new, and the losses in comparison with the knowledge of Christ Jesus his Lord.

Paul's Method of Obtaining His Goal, Philippians 3:12-14. Luther says that a Christian is not in being, but in becoming. Paul says perfection is not in being, but in striving. Possibly his words in these verses were designed especially for some of his Philippians readers who claimed high sanctity, a superiority over other brethren.

Once Paul had thought himself wholly blameless, but now he speaks in humility. "I would not have you think," he writes, "that I imagine I have already attained my goal, that I am already perfect—but I am still a learner, I am pressing onward to lay hold on that for which I was laid hold on by Christ"—referring to his experience on the way to Damascus.

Paul's Record, II. Timothy 4:7, 8. Trueman, in his "Lectures," "I have fought the good fight"—I have contended earnestly in the good contest, for it is the athlete the apostle has in mind; like a runner in the games, he has finished the course; as contestants keep the rules of the games, so I have kept the rules of life's contest, I have kept the faith. The wise assurance Paul cries, "Henceforth there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give to me at that day; and not to me only, but to all them that have loved his appearing."

Frenzied Bull Supplied Rural Postman With Plenty Of Thrills

"Northerner," columnist of the Yorkshire Post, illustrates the fidelity of rural postmen by the following tale:

One of these public servants was once called to act as a messenger on a furious pace and clear a five-barred gate. He picked himself on the safe side just as a frenzied bull charged at the gate and stuck its horns into the top bar.

A passerby said, "That's a narrow escape, you've just had the skinning." "This morning!" said the postman, pulling bits of grass and nettle from his tunic. "This morning! It happens every morning."

British Farmers Urged To Store Feed For Their Cattle

All available wheat would probably be requisitioned for human consumption in wartime, and British farmers should therefore lay in stores of barley, oats and corn to feed their cattle in case of emergency. Agriculture Minister Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith warned in the House of Commons.

He explained the government was making plans to control distribution of foodstuffs after outbreak of war.

RURAL HEALTH CONSERVATION

Attention is drawn to the value of the county health units by announcement of the awards in the Canadian Rural Health Conservation Contest for 1938. Financed by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, the contest is conducted in Canada by the Canadian Public Health Association in co-operation with the American Public Health Association.

For the second time the major award in Canada has been won by the St. Jean-Berville-Lapierre-Naperville County Health Unit, the headquarters of which are at St. Jean, Que., and the medical officer, Dr. J. A. Lapierre, D.P.H.

Judging in the contest is made by a carefully selected group of health experts, the communities being appraised on the following lines: (1) to provide and safeguard its water supply; (2) to furnish adequate and safe sewerage disposal; (3) to reduce infant and maternal deaths; (4) to combat tuberculosis and syphilis; (5) to protect its citizens against other communicable diseases; (6) to insure healthy children; (7) to protect and safeguard its milk and other foods; (8) to promote effective co-operation with its physicians and dentists in furnishing necessary service to all those who need them; (9) to enlarge and improve its lay-understanding of ways and means of preventing sickness and death and of maintaining good health.

Rural health conservation is one of the most important problems in Canada and it is to be hoped that the example set by the various county health units in the Province of Quebec will stimulate action in many other parts of Canada.

After Much Study

Experts Found Out What Polish People Call Grapefruit

It's a pretty awkward test to try anything you don't know the name of, and since it is bad manners to point, Polish people in Pennsylvania were not buying grapefruit, because they couldn't think of any word in their language for it. The Florida Citrus Commission was pretty much worried by this, and got the Library of Congress to put some of their etymological experts on an excavation job into the Polish Embassy at Washington. They came across terms like "cytryn," but found them too general in application. On the other hand, there was "azadzi," but it is not in common use; "pomela," and "wilegrat" were discarded as doubtful, but a score of suggestions in addition to these were made. Finally an assistant of the Polish Embassy was consulted as to the term preferred in Poland. He said the term preferred in Poland, and don't stop here if you've guessed it, is "grapefruit"—Journal of Commerce.

Brothers Re-United

After Being Separated For 38 Years, Have Again Found Each Other

The story of the re-union of two brothers, Charles F. Davies, of Gilbert Plains, and George Davies, of Muskegan, Lake, 30 miles north of Toronto, was told in a letter received at Toronto, from Gilbert Plains, by C. W. Buchanan, of Toronto.

The two brothers had become separated 38 years ago, and had given each other up for dead, until a travelling salesman, named Irwin, noticed the resemblance between a man in Ontario and a man at Gilbert Plains. Through E. P. Brown, editor of the Maple Leaf Press, Gilbert Plains, an investigation was carried out by letter, and the two brothers united.

The story will be climaxed in September, when George goes west to meet his brother Charles.

"A very strong heart, indeed," said the doctor. "You should live to be eighty at least."

"But doctor, I am eighty." "There you are! What did I tell you?"

CHAPTER XII—Continued

Duncan Van Doren arrived within the first week after the accident.

Duncan's well-bred face showed the effects of grief and shock; his pleasant veneer was rubbed off. "Well, I'm here now," he said, "and I'm here to stay until she gets well—or doesn't get well."

Mrs. Dana gave him a wan smile. "Duncan dear," it was certain, they had assured her, that her child would live. "But Bixford, who is the greatest bone specialist this side of Chicago, won't make any prognosis yet about the spine."

Conrad Jordan, who had left Tahore instantly to join in the search, remained to look after Gunnar. "Though there's nothing I can do," he admitted to Lynn Dana, "except walk up and down that horrible-smelling hall with him, bubbling about all the injured spines I've known cured, and dragging him out to eat infrequently. He begs me every instant away for fear it might be the time they would let him see her." He shook his head. "And why can't he see her?"

"Why, I understand that no one—his friend began."

"On the contrary. All the family, the old governess, the large, plump, optimistic aunt—That's the abominable part of it."

The man in the wheelchair was agitated. He seemed to have aged years in days. "You think they are definitely determined to keep him away from her? She isn't conscious enough to ask for him?"

"Even if she is, they won't let him in!" Mary Dana Webster said hotly. She managed to run in to see Lynn Dana every day for a few minutes of aching sympathy. "It simply burns me up to look at him," she told her husband. "He knows what it means. Do you suppose he blames himself, Neddy?" she asked him. "That makes it a million times worse if he does."

"Well, he might at that," Ned Webster had shaken his head. "If he and the old lady hadn't given her the plane—"

"But, if she hadn't gone up with that miserable band of a girl—"

"Yes, but if she hadn't been a sister it never could have happened to her."

MEN LOVE PEP GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will love you to dance and parties. BUT if you are shy, timid and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they see a girl who is full of pep, they are interested. It is a system, remember for 3 generations ago, when the old and tired were the only ones who were peppy. With Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound it helps build up new physical resources and thus builds in giving you more pep and makes you feel like a new girl. Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound WILL WORTH TRYING!

he said reasonably. "And I expect that's the way the family figures, her mother anyway."

"I know," Mary Dana Webster nodded. "I wish Sally Ann would come home."

"She will later," Lynn Dana said. "I cabled and wrote that her presence would mean more to Sarah Lynn in a little while, during the waiting period—weeks, months of it, probably." All three of them were thinking that it might be years, as it had been for him. "You know, people are no end kind and sorry, but the drama goes out of the situation, presently. I mean, they get used to the fact, and life goes on again, and—well, the calls and the flowers and books and things dwindle away."

"There'll be whole conservatories full of flowers now that Duncan is here," Mary said bitterly.

CHAPTER XIII.

Gunnar Thorwald was pacing the corridor when Duncan Van Doren got out of the elevator. Duncan's head was down; he did not see the elder Gunnar stared incredulously, striding toward him, thrusting out an arm to block his way.

"You have seen her?" There was an emphasis on the first pronoun which made the question at once a demand and a protest.

Duncan looked at him with swimming eyes, nodding, his face convulsed. He manifested no resentment, no conviction that before him stood the cause of the tragedy; only an engulfing flood of sympathy and sorrow. He gulped, groping for his handkerchief. "Horrible—cruel—"

Gunnar pushed past him toward the elevator, but it rose as he reached it, so he turned and went leaping up the stairs. A woman with a big bouquet of garden flowers shrank out of his way.

"Mercy," she said to her husband. "That fellow looks like a mental case!"

He flung himself through the door in spite of the card in the brass frame which read:

Dana
Mrs. Dana and Bixford
NO VISITORS

but he stood still on the threshold, staring.

Mrs. Dana, standing at the window, her back to him, turned at the sound of his entrance. "Come in," she said in an angry whisper. "No callers are permitted. My daughter is—"

Gunnar was not listening. There was nothing she could tell him about her daughter. He continued to stand still, looking at the door.

"Leave this room instantly! I will ring for an orderly to put you out!" Mrs. Dana cried wildly. "Haven't you done enough? Aren't you satisfied with the suffering, the agony—she was hearing down on him in self fury. "Do you want to kill her?"

But Gunnar had reached the bed. He had leaned over Sarah Lynn, shaking, and said her name.

She was as nearly white as the olive and amber and ivory of her skin could be, and her nose, her brow, her chin, her cheek-bones were as sharp and salient as if they had been chiseled from marble. Her eyes flew open, bigger and darker than ever, sunk in shadowed hollows and a startled recognition came into them at once and a blazing joy.

"My heart!" Gunnar said hoarsely. "My dearest heart!" He could not have known what he looked like, but he remembered to smile at her. Mrs. Dana came her off and bent lower, still smiling. "My heart—"

Sarah Lynn's eyes widened, the pupils distending, and a strange look of fright and something stranger still came into them. "No!" she cried. "Go away! Please, please go!"

Mrs. Dana was pressing the button. "Now, do you hear?" she triumphed. "Do you hear?"

Gunnar thought it was delirium. He said gently, "It is Gunnar, my dearest one—to stay with you always."

But Sarah Lynn, pinioned and helpless, able to move nothing but her eyes, nevertheless, with every fibre of her being repelled him. "No, no! Go away! Never come again—never—come again!"

The press played it up and the radio buzzed with bulletins about Gunnar Thorwald's return flight across the Atlantic, but no newspapers came into Sarah Lynn's hospital room, and they never tuned in for news flashes—only for music or comedy programs, or an occasional playlet which was known to be pleasant and amusing.

Gunnar's name was not mentioned after the day of his visit. When at length, he had been compelled to leave the room, he could hear Sarah Lynn's voice, spent but shrill, saying to her mother, "Make him go away! Make him go away!"

He had not waited to hear her mother's answer, hovering over her in an agony of protective tenderness,

SHE COULD NEITHER WALK NOR SLEEP

Arms and Feet Swollen With Rheumatism

This woman suffered for many years. Pain sapped her strength until she lost hope of recovery. Many remedies were tried, but nothing broke the grip of her crippling rheumatism. At last, her husband persuaded her to try Kruschen Salts. "My arms and feet were swollen with rheumatism," she writes. "I could not walk nor get regular sleep and nothing did me any lasting good. I was so hopeless of ever getting better, I lost my good nature entirely. Then my husband persuaded me to try Kruschen Salts. After two weeks I began to feel better. I persevered, and in six weeks, I was able to go for a walk. Now I am free from pain and I feel grand."—(Mrs. F.W.)

Rheumatism is commonly caused by deposits of uric acid crystals, which lodge in the muscles and joints. Kruschen helps to break up these deposits of troubling crystals and to convert them into a harmless solution, which is removed through the natural channel—the kidneys.

and he did not know that Sarah Lynn had died quietly, peacefully, for three days. The tears trickled out of the corners of her eyes and slid down her temples into her hair, and she could not lift her hand to wipe them away.

Her doctors and nurses were disturbed, but they didn't seem able to control it. "This isn't helping any," Miss Burke said.

"It is just the reaction, the great relief, after that distressing and cruel interview the other day," Mrs. Dana insisted. "Daring you are safe with Mother, and no one is going to bother you again! Mother's right here!" She saw the nurse's cool gray eyes upon her and followed her out into the aggressively clean-smelling corridor. "It is perfectly natural," she said rather convulsively. "She regards him as the cause of her misfortune, so of course she shrinks from him."

"You think so?" Miss Burke said levelly. "Well, I can't give all the answers, but that wouldn't be my diagnosis." She went away with her headless, heeled, treadless shoes, she hated to have cases get her as this one did.

Sarah Lynn persistently asked for the old family doctor from Los Gatos and they were obliged to send for him. He could contribute nothing they felt sure, but it was a comfort to the child—

"Suppose you just step out and let us have our visit alone," he said mildly. Then he sat down and patted her hand. "Well, Sarah Lynn, brought you into the world, as the old saying goes, and I saw you through measles and chickenpox and the rest of 'em. I'm mighty sorry about this. Was there anything special you wanted to say to me?"

She could not turn her head, but her eyes turned to him. "You tell the truth, always. Am I going to die?"

"No," he said heartily. "I'm not up on all the details of your case, of course, but I had a talk with Dr. Lynn; you're going to live."

"Must I?"

He cleared his throat. "I guess you must, girl. I guess that's your choice."

Sarah Lynn said after a long pause. "I know doctors can't—kill people. They only animals that can be—what do they say?"—put out their misery. "But can't they—just not make people live?"

He shook his grizzled head. "That's their chore, Sarah Lynn, making people live." Then he said briskly, "But it's not going to be like this, you know, always."

Sarah Lynn said. "They used to give me stuff all the time to make me sleep, with wish they still did. I have to live, I think they might do that for me."

"Pain still bad?"

"Not my back—my head, my heart. Will you ask them to give it to me again?"

"No," the old country doctor said. "I won't do that, Sarah Lynn. You wouldn't want me. I guess it took plenty of grit to go up in your plane, and more than plenty to come down in a parachute. But I believe you have a lot of grit left yet."

She stood up, looking down at her, his eyes very bright. "Yes, you've got to live, Sarah Lynn."

On a card in the front window of a suburban home appeared the following notice:

"A plane for sale."

In the window next door another card appeared with just one word:

"Hurrah!"

More than a year ago Egypt set strong defenses along its western border, to protect the Nile Valley from Italian Libya.

A Great Sculptor

John Theodore Tussaud Has Modelled More Than 1,500 People

The world's most famous people are just wax in the hands of a man who has just celebrated his 82nd birthday and golden wedding.

John Theodore Tussaud, white-haired and kindly head of the famous waxworks family, has modelled more than 1,500 people.

"I've been to hundreds of famous trials, watching every facial line and mannerism of criminals who later were added to our exhibition," he said.

"Royalty and famous politicians I invariably model after watching them during their public engagements and memorizing them until I get back to the studio."

The man, whose work has been seen by nearly every member of the Royal family during the past half-century, remembers the time when he lifted up the present King as a child.

"He was touring the exhibition, and was just too small to see the miniature martyrdom scene of Thomas A'Becket," he said.

At present Mr. Tussaud is putting the finishing touches in his studio to a double-size bust of Queen Mary.

"I have perfected a self-hardening form of clay of my own composition," he said. "I believe it will revolutionize sculpture."

Hunting Boers' War Chest

Three Brothers Hope To Locate Treasure In South Africa

A new search is to be made for the "Kruger millions"—the money, gold and valuables which formed the Boers' war chest during the South African War.

Three brothers named We Wet, of the Bredaard district of Cape Province, have entered the service a Saut called Williams who said he helped hide the treasure when he was batman to Gen. Cronje.

At President Kruger's house he assisted in loading the treasure on to an ox cart, which he then led to a spot near Pretoria and Pietersburg. Along with other natives, he had previously been ordered to dig holes near this place.

Gen. Cronje and Gen. De Wet, who had accompanied the wagon, then entered the load to be transferred to a Scotch cart which they brought along. The two Boer leaders then went off with the Scotch cart and when they returned it was empty.

The brothers De Wet plan to have Williams guide them to the place. In the meantime they have written to the Government to ask how they would stand if they found anything.

Child Training

Parents Are Warned Against Trying To Make "Geniuses" Of Their Children

Proud parents are advised by a teacher of psychology to stop trying to make "geniuses" out of pre-school age children.

Dr. Alexander Schneider, psychologist of Loyola University, says parents cause "irreparable harm" to youngsters by helping to develop either "social or educational maladjustments."

Asserting it was "impossible to make anything like a genius out of the average child," Dr. Schneider deplored a widespread tendency, particularly among educated persons, to satisfy their own egos by forcing their children into intellectual moulds ill-suited to their native capacity or temperament.

Compelling children—even before they are able to hold their books upright—to recite poems, count up to 100, or name offhand the streets of the cities in which they live, were named by Dr. Schneider as among the practices used in parental efforts to develop precocious youngsters.

Not A New Idea

Air-Conditioning Was Used In King Solomon's Time

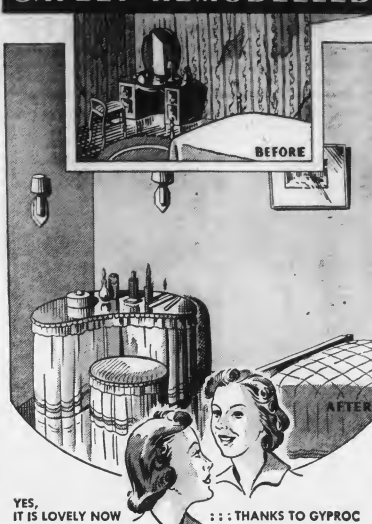

The site of King Solomon's great factory town of Ezion-Geber on the Red Sea—its fabulous of Palestine—has been uncovered in excavations just completed by Nelson Glueck, director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem, Yale University announced.

Many buildings in the vast smelting town were air-conditioned for heat and contained an elaborate system of flues and air channels that permitted utilization of strong north winds as natural blasts.

Best For Reading

Newspaper With Short Line Has Advantage Over Book

Newspaper print makes for efficient and easy reading because of the short length of line in the average newspaper column. D. G. P. Cosgrave of the University of Toronto's department of psychology, told the Ontario Optometrical Association annual convention at Ottawa.

In that respect newspaper print had many advantages over the usual book, in which the length of each printed line is considerably longer, he said.

Best students in a large group of pupils tested for reading ability read three or four times more quickly than the slowest. It was less fatiguing and better results were obtained by fast reading, since in this way the essentials of the matter read were more easily absorbed, Dr. Cosgrave said.

Tribute To Liner's Captain

Dinner Given To Commander Who Brought Their Majesties To Canada

Seafaring members of the House of Commons attended a complimentary dinner tendered to Captain A. R. Meikle, who commanded the liner Empress of Australia on her trip to Quebec with the King and Queen. The dinner, at the House of Commons, was a private function organized by Commander A. Marden as a tribute to Captain Meikle's seamanship in guiding the ship safely through ice and fog.

Real Baseball

Is Game In Small Town Between Home Team And Visitors

Baseball is a game played on a hot afternoon under a broiling sun and under the watchful eyes of indignant enthusiasts. A game played under the stars and floodlights is something else. The specialist may even question whether the game played in the big league parks, day or night, are really baseball.

The real, true genuine baseball, in the opinion of many is the game played in a small town between the home team and the visitors a game attended by the entire population and a game which enforces a public holiday because the stores are deserted anyway. That is baseball. — Halifax Chronicle.

Queer Book Markers

Some People Make Use Of Anything That Is Handy

City librarians of Longpoint, Colorado, report that they have found several toothbrushes in returned books. Other unorthodox markers include safety pins, comic valentines, absorbent cotton, blades of grass, piece tags, candy wrappers, crochet hooks, photographs and drawings.

"People jump up to answer the doorbell, to keep the steak from burning or to perform some other emergency task and they jam anything that is handy into the book," is the way the librarians figure it out.

Although marriages in the United States fell off 14 per cent last year as compared with 1937, the retail jewel business still rang up $70,000,000 in the old cash register from date of wedding gifts, rings and other marital trinkets.

MONEY THAT COMES BACK TO YOU

To be able to spend money for one's needs and have it come back to him-- that is agreeable to anyone. And that is just about what happens when buyers shop at home. "The News" does not urge home-buying as a principle of sentimental value. It suggests home-buying as a matter of sound, profit-seeking, business sense. Money spent with Cardston merchants will come back to spenders in the form of increased economic activity, new homes, new business establishments, greater employment opportunities.
It is doubtful if any saving at all can be made by motoring to other places to buy, by the time the motoring costs are added to the cost of the goods purchased. Certainly a loss is sustained when the buyer considers the loss of his own share of the economic betterment of which Cardston is deprived when trading is not done at home.

THE IMPORTANCE OF GOOD PRINTING

The use of printed matter is one of the most powerful factors in advertising, and can be used to great advantage. People respond far more readily to sales appeals which are well printed and quickly and easily read than if they have to pore over vague and indistinct attempts at substituting for the real thing. Many substitutes are used, but the Art of Printing remains ahead of all other mediums for informing the public whose trade is courted by enterprising merchants.

Not 't sell if you hide it under a bushel basket--use Journal want ads.

New customers are usually attracted to a store through its advertising.
